COURSE OUTLINE – PROFESSIONAL COMMUNICATIONS FOR THE REGISTERED MIDWIFE (PCRM001)

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course reviews the basic tenets of professional communications for Registered Midwives. It provides a more in-depth examination of the applications of these tenets in the various contexts of practice and relationships. Specific skills are explored with regard to the means of developing them and considering each one's relevance to the goals of the particular midwife-client relationship. The use of the various communication strategies and skills at points in the midwife-client relationship process are highlighted. The course also discusses communications in the context of the healthcare team as the means of enacting collaborative relational practice. Further, this course considers the challenges of documentation and the implications of social media for professional communications

Pre-requisites: Graduation from an entry-level Midwifery program.

Co-requisites: None.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- State the basic tenets of midwife communications
- Describe the process of professional skills development
- Identify the relevant application of particular communication skills in particular contexts of care.
- Identify where particular communications are unhelpful and how those interactions can be improved
- Describe the use of effective communications to establish and maintain a collaborative approach in midwifery and interdisciplinary healthcare teams
- Identify the place of documentary practices in midwife communications
- Explain the benefits and pitfalls of electronic communications and social media in professional communications

Course Hours:

4 contact hours per week, for 6 weeks. (N.B. These hours are estimates only.)

Modes of Instruction and Learning

This course is delivered through online modes of teaching and learning. This includes reading and literature search, short assignments, reflecting, critiquing and providing responses to various case scenarios. The course also includes feedback and critique, provided by the education consultant, on the participant's work and progress.

Assessment and Evaluation

Participants are required to achieve a 'Complete' or 'Mastery' grade in all assessable components of the course in order to receive a certificate of completion. The specific criteria for success will vary with the type of assignment and are indicated in each assignment description. Generally, participants will be able to resubmit up to 2 times when a learning activity is deemed by the education consultant as not meeting or addressing some or all of the expected competencies/criteria. The number of resubmissions allowed in each learning activity is at the education consultant's discretion.

Though we strive to respond to learning activity submissions within 3 to 5 days, they will be graded within a maximum of 14 days. We ask course participants to contact the office and provide a reminder if they have not heard from the education consultant by 10 days after submission of an assignment. Exceptions to these timeframes apply under unusual circumstances, such as when a participant registers for a course and then delays starting or begins the course and is then absent for an extended period of time. Additionally, participants are expected to complete and submit assignments progressively over the duration of the course; it is not acceptable for a participant to suddenly submit multiple assignments over one or two days. Participants should follow the directions provided in the course. In any of these situations, the normal timeframe for return of assignments may be extended at the discretion of, and according to the needs of, the education consultant.

Required Textbooks

Textbooks may be available online, in e-format or for purchase through publishers or other brokers. You might also be able to borrow these texts from your local community college library – You are permitted to copy one chapter or 10% of a book for education purposes.

Attendance and Participation

You are expected to be working on the course and learning activities on a regular basis and to indicate to the education consultant how you are progressing or if you need assistance to progress. Failure to maintain regular communication for a prolonged period (30 days) could result in your being withdrawn from the online learning centre. A reinstatement fee of $100.00 may be payable should you wish to continue with the course after this time. If you repeat the same failure to maintain communication for a second time, you will be required to pay another reinstatement fee of $100.00. If you repeat the same failure to maintain communication for a third time, or if you are absent for a period of six months without communication (even if this is your first time failing to communicate regularly), you will have to pay the entire course and administration fees over again. Decisions in this regard are at the sole discretion of JCC Inc.
